From the East

Happy New Year my Brethren,

The 17th of this month marks the 316th anniversary of the birth of Brother Benjamin Franklin who sagely remarked, “Tell me and I forget; teach me and I may remember; involve me and I learn.”

I sincerely hope these inspirational words will spur you to be involved in Lodge activities throughout this year. There are a great many ways to be involved with your Brethren at Tuality Lodge, and more are in the works.

From the East – From Column 1

When you are involved at the Lodge it enriches the experience for everyone, whether it’s joining us for a meal, monthly meetings, education night, or just an informal get-together.

Every Brother has something to contribute, but you cannot add to the experience if you are not present.

Please rest assured that you’re missed when you are absent. How many times have we reflected wistfully upon a particularly fine meal or thought-provoking presentation and thought, “Wow, I wish my Brother had been there to enjoy that with me!”

My Brother, I wish you the best of life and love for the coming year, and I hope to see you involved at the Lodge soon. Your Brethren will be happy to have you, and you never know, you may just enjoy it too.

Fraternally yours,

WB William H. Sparks, III, Worshipful Master
